The next TESOL Conference will be held in Columbus on November 15-16, 2013 at the downtown Hilton where our Central States Conference is being held presently. The Conference title is Crossroads, Connections, Collaboration and will once again have a digital lab which has turned out to be very popular.

Our keynote speaker will be Deborah Short, the author of SIOP (Sheltered Instruction Observation Protocol), a researched based protocol for teaching English Language Learners in the most effective way.

Call for Proposals will go out this spring so look for further information on our website:
